Sat 23 Sep (18.00)

"Step is life." From the heart of Baltimore, stirring documentary Step gives voice to a group of high school girls struggling to find a way to escape the problems in their troubled city. Inspired by their school and a local dance competition, the girls are determined to be the first in their families to attend college. Told through individual perspectives, Step is an empowering story of how dance and determination can inspire and lead you on the path to success.

Director Amanda Lipitz, USA 2017, 1h23m, PG

DAPHNE

AT EYE LEVEL

Sat 23 Sep (20.20)

Daphne (Emily Beecham) is a 30-something Londoner who has reached an impasse in life when she witnesses a violent attack on a local shopkeeper. The incident prompts Daphne to reassess her life choices and the people in it. Local director Peter Mackie Burns brings his debut feature to GYFF, in which the commanding Emily Beecham steers the film as the emotionally troubled Daphne.
